

Spring Production Seminar Helps Producers Prepare for Pasture

Kansas Cattlemen's Association is hosting its Spring Production Seminar and Trade Show in Topeka, Kansas this year. The event will take place Saturday, April 9th at the Topeka Capitol Plaza Hotel.

"This year, KCA wanted to focus on production issues. We have a great line up of speakers who will provide the latest information on the markets, animal disease prevention and management, pasture management, and cattle handling, stated KCA Executive Director Brandy Carter. We encourage everyone to come out, and get a few tips before pasture season starts."

Cost for the daylong event is $100 and includes both the luncheon and the evening banquet along with all of the sessions. Anyone interested in pre-registering for the event may do so by calling KCA @ 785-238-1483 or logging on to the Kansas Cattlemen's Association website at www.kansascattlem.com. This event is open to the public and registration at the door is also welcome.
