KCA President Seeks Interested Parties for Newly Created Policy Committees

Kansas Cattlemen's Association is in the process of forming policy committees representing the member resolutions. Each resolution has been categorized under a newly formed committee. KCA is seeking four to six members to review and work policy within each committee. There is no limit to the number of committees a member may be on, but committee members need to be active members of the Kansas Cattlemen's Association or appointed consultants on policy being actively engaged at the time.

Each committee will be responsible for writing and recommending new and modified resolutions prior to each annual meeting. Members of the committee will be responsible for seeking member input from outside of the committee to develop policy for approval by the membership. In addition to policy management, committees will draft for the Board of Directors, press releases, regulatory comments, and testimony on behalf of the KCA lobbying effort.

"KCA is constantly reviewing practices and seeking better ways to serve our members and independent producers. I believe that an engaged membership is important to our growth. These committees will help overall communication and expand the scope of our work," stated Alan Stewart, KCA President.

The committees include: Animal Health & Welfare, Rural Rights & Economic Enhancement, Marketing & Trade, Country of Origin Labeling, Kansas Cattlemen's Beef Cooperative, and Beef Checkoff. As defined in the graphic, each committee is assigned specific resolutions. Initial members of the committees will define the scope during the first meetings of the committee.

Kansas Cattlemen's Beef Cooperative

"The formation of these committees is an excellent opportunity for members with knowledge of various subjects to get involved. Previously, special committees were formed to tackle specific resolutions and bills. This forms a steady source of thoughts and ideas, and I think that these groups will provide KCA with stronger positions to work with throughout the year and specific producer-relevant information," stated Tyler Dupy, KCA Executive Director.

Committee meetings will be coordinated by KCA staff, and will generally be conference calls with the exception of committee meetings during the KCA Convention. It will be at the determination of the committee, the regularity to which they meet. Emergency calls of committees will also be at the discretion of the President during times of legislative sessions or other governmental regulation announcements.

Members interested in taking part of a committee are asked to complete and return the interest form on page 9. The interest form is also available online at www.kansascattlemen.com. Questions may be directed to Tyler Dupy at 785-238-1483 or by emailing KCA at cowsrus@kansascattlemen.com.

Message from the President.....Alan Stewart

Happy New Year! For us here in SE Kansas, 2018 has let it be known that it is winter! As a producer, the extreme weather changes have been hard on the cattle. I spoke to a couple of veterinarians who told me they have sold a lot of Draxin. From the people standpoint, the flu bug has been prevalent in this area, so it's not just the cattle suffering.

On our way to the last board meeting, Tony Anderson and I stopped in Yates Center at the locker to pick up the meat which was won at the KCA Convention Benefit auction by Luke & Rena Schwieterman. Tony was worried about a low tire so we stopped in Eureka, and he checked his tire. It was okay. So, on we go to pick up Shawn Mills in El Dorado. When we got to Herrington, Tony starts worrying about running out of gas! Instead of turning around and going back to Herrington for gas, Tony was sweating blood by the time we made it to Junction City. Of course, Shawn and I gave him a hard time about us not walking if we ran out of gas.

2018 graduations will be happening before we know it. Don't forget the KCA Scholarship. See Tyler or a board member for information about this. The application is also on the KCA website.

As we enter this new year, let's see if we can grow Kansas Cattlemen's Association by recruiting new members. There's a song in our church hymnal called "Each One Reach One", a great song but the title goes well with a way we can grow.

Until next time, God Bless!

Alan Stewart

Hey America! Beef Up! No. 17

Urgent for the New Year:
A New Credit System to Restore the Economy!

—Farming and the whole agro-industrial complex is in a tail-spin crisis, however, it is a major foundation stone of the entire U.S. economy. So the loses must be stopped and farm price recovery begin.

At the passing of the old year, came a celebration of the new U.S. tax reform act as a victory, but since it lacks the essentials to repair the underlying economic breakdown—which requires a Glass-Steagall banking reorganization, new credit for mass infrastructure building, a stop to speculation, etc.—the new tax law stands to feed the downslide process. It gives more hot-money flows for mega-banks to buy-back stock, bet on derivatives, and you name it. In fact Jamie Dimon, CEO of JP Morgan-Chase, the largest of the mega-banks, laughed with glee at the new law, saying it's like a "QE 4," meaning a new round of "quantitative easing"—another money creation bail-out, when we should have industrial physical production.

What do we really need for the New Year? We need to clean out the remains of the old, dying monetarist system, which has been imposed for about 50 years, by the Wall Street/City of London crowd, and return to the principles of our own American System. Before taking up what doing that requires, look at the situation we are in as of 2018.

The condition of our economy is epitomized by the terrible December Amtrak train wreck in Washington State.

Whatever the immediate causes, the truth is our national passenger rail system is nearly non-existent, and no on-the-cheap, here-and-there bits of attempted high-speed projects will improve it. Our infrastructure needs a complete upgrade and expansion in all respects—rail, water, power, inland waterways, disaster defenses, fully adequate hospital systems, etc.

Our rural areas are de-populating due to the farm price crisis; our manufacturing sector is decimated. With the lack of jobs and productive activity, drug use epidemic, and despair, our national life expectancy itself is falling. This has now shown up for two years in a row.

The "Everything Bubble."

If this picture isn't bad enough, we have the fact that killer-chaos looms, if the financial system blows out, with no contingency plans. This is a real threat right now, because of what is called the "everything bubble." Huge balloons of bad debt are hanging out there, any one of which can burst, causing a chain-reaction of defaults. What makes up the "everything bubble" includes everything from bad corporate debt, student loans, casino-type bank bets called "derivatives," and you name it.

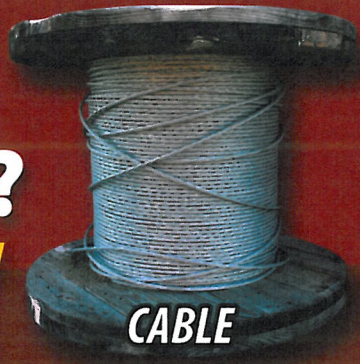

Facing this reality, allows us to understand and push for what we really need, not only for a good New Year, but for a new era of happiness, as our forefathers called real physical economic growth for "ourselves and our posterity," in the Preamble to the Constitution. In short, we need, first, to get on board internationally, what is called the "New Silk Road," (see link below) of collaborative infrastructure-development among nations. China, with Russia, is leading the charge on this, calling it the "Belt and Road Initiative," referring to corridors, or "belts" across Eurasia and Africa, of new rail, power, industrial and agricultural zones. This is going into Africa, and now, via new deals with Panama, into our hemisphere, as part of the "Maritime Silk Road."

Secondly, we must restore sound banking, which farmers—who rely on timely, seasonal credit—understand well. Restoring, the first of what is called LaRouche's Four Laws, the 1933-1999 Glass Steagall law, to segregate regular commercial banking, from mega-speculative banking, is essential. Insure only the former; let the speculators take on their own risks. No more bail-outs, but parity prices for agriculture and bust the monopolies.
